Commenting on the performance Mr. Sunil Suresh, Chairman said:

"Our performance during the quarter reflected a gradual improvement in revenues, although the operating environment remained challenging. Revenue from Operations increased by 1.6% YoY and 7.8% QoQ to Rs. 10,706 lakhs in Q2 FY27. The sequential improvement is encouraging, particularly as the business continues to navigate delays in residential project handovers and longer customer conversion cycles. For H1 FY27, Revenue from Operations was Rs. 20,641 lakhs compared to Rs. 21,409 lakhs in H1 FY26.

At the retail level, we opened three new stores during the quarter across different markets and formats. In Sri Lanka, we launched Stanley Boutique Homes in Colombo through our strategic partnership with Singer Sri Lanka PLC. This marks our first international market entry and provides a platform to build our presence in the region by leveraging Singer's local market expertise and retail network.

We expanded our presence with the launch of Sofas & More by Stanley in Jaipur, marking our entry into Rajasthan. We also introduced our first Stanley Superlative Living flagship store in Hyderabad. Spread across 72,000 sq. ft., the new format brings together furniture, kitchens, wardrobes, lighting, decor and personalized design services under one roof. It represents an important step in our evolution towards becoming a complete home solutions provider and provides a platform for expanding this format across other key luxury markets.

As part of our ongoing network review, we closed three stores and our approach remains focused on evaluating the financial prospects of individual locations and the potential of their surrounding catchment areas. Certain local markets have matured over time, with limited scope for further customer acquisition through those existing store locations. We have therefore taken a selective approach to our retail footprint, reallocating resources towards markets and locations that offer better potential for growth and customer engagement. Alongside our retail initiatives, we are progressing with the planned restructuring of our business. The proposed amalgamation of our subsidiaries and step down subsidiaries into Stanley Lifestyles Limited is aimed at simplifying the group structure and improving coordination across businesses.

Industry inventory build up ahead of the Furniture Quality Control Order (QCO) in August 2026 led to heavier than expected festive price discounting. Over time, we believe the potential inclusion of sofas and recliners under the QCO, creates an opportunity for Stanley Lifestyles. As other furniture retailers who have traditionally relied on imports look for domestic suppliers, our design expertise and integrated manufacturing capabilities position us to supply them at scale. Decades of investment in manufacturing and an integrated Manu-Retail model position Stanley Lifestyles to scale production and supply retailers and global brands beyond their own network.

Our focus on improving the overall operating structure remains an important part of the company's ongoing transformation. We are working towards improving cost competitiveness through strategic sourcing under the Best Cost Country (BCC) model and greater localization. At the same time, the Company is refining its brand and retail architecture, strengthening internal processes and developing its capabilities across the complete home solutions portfolio. These initiatives are aimed at improving sourcing efficiencies, execution and the overall customer experience as the business moves into its next phase of growth.

Looking ahead, our focus is on improving customer conversions as residential project handovers progress, increasing the contribution from our newer stores and strengthening our complete home solutions portfolio. We will also continue to be selective with retail expansion and review the performance of individual locations."
